

Writing Groups - Code of Conduct

To ensure a respectful, safe and productive environment, please follow these guidelines:

1. Respectful & Constructive Feedback – Provide constructive and supportive feedback that is focused on the work, and not the person. Have a sense of openness and curiosity.
2. Confidentiality – All conversation and discussion within the writer's group is confidential and should not be shared with others without permission. This includes both digital and printed materials.
3. Commitment & Participation – Regular attendance and engagement in the writer's groups are expected. If you can't attend, please let the facilitator in advance. If you miss three sessions in a row, without advising your facilitator, we may open your spot to someone on the waitlist.
4. Inclusivity – Be mindful of language and behaviour to ensure a welcoming, inclusive and safe space for all members.
5. Role of Facilitator – Facilitators help set the meeting agenda, keep conversations flowing, and ensure the group runs smoothly. They also keep track of who attends and help everyone to stay connected. Facilitators are volunteers. Please be kind and respectful of their time.
6. Here for the Craft – Our groups are a space for creative and professional development. To keep the focus on learning and sharing, please avoid promoting or selling products or services.
7. Safety Concerns – If you're worried about your own safety or that of another group member, please let the Facilitator know as soon as you can. If that doesn't feel comfortable or appropriate, you can also contact the Programs Coordinator at programs@hunterwriterscentre.org
8. If You Have a Concern – We ask that you first speak with the Facilitator. If that doesn't feel appropriate, you can contact the Programs Coordinator at Programs Coordinator: programs@hunterwriterscentre.org

To keep the group safe and welcoming for everyone, members who don't follow the Code of Conduct may be asked to leave the group.

Please note that writing groups are for current members of Hunter Writers' Centre. If membership is cancelled or not renewed, participation in the groups will cease.
